OUTSIDE INTERESTS

Nor'easters. Blizzards. Whiteouts. No matter what you call them, winter storms can put your residents at risk. Snow and ice can cause slippery sidewalks, stairs, and parking areas, so use spreaders to dispense ice melt and blowers to remove leaves, sticks, and other debris.

Good To Know

Remind residents to leave faucets running - just a trickle - when temperatures drop to 20°F or below to help prevent pipes from freezing and bursting. Opening cabinet doors beneath sinks and covering drafts near piping can also help you avoid cold weather-related damage.

PROTECT YOUR RESIDENTS AND YOUR PROPERTY

BEFORE A STORM

Don't wait until a storm or extreme cold-weather conditions strike your area. Create an action and communication plan now, and make sure you have plenty of emergency supplies on hand. HD Supply Facilities Maintenance has thousands of products to help you prepare for winter weather.

DURING A STORM

Extremely cold temperatures often accompany winter storms, so encourage residents to stay inside and off the roads. If their power goes out, remind them to use battery-powered flashlights or lanterns instead of candles for lighting and to never use a charcoal or gas grill inside the home. The toxic fumes the grills generate can be deadly.

AFTER A STORM

Winter storms can leave a big mess behind them. Check your foundation and roof for any damage and use roof repair products to seal and patch trouble spots. Have snow removal tools like ice melt and shovels to clear sidewalks and steps of snow and ice. Place entry mats at entrances and exits to help avoid wet, slippery floors.
