Information

- 38. Product Personalization
- 39. Product Care

All of our products are made at the largest mills in the world to ensure consistent quality each and every time you order. Whether you need one carton or a full trailer, we have you covered. In addition to our in-stock lines, we have created hundreds of private labeled textile lines specifically designed for individual customers. We have included a towel care guide in the back of this catalog for your convenience.

ALL TOWELS ARE NOT CREATED EQUAL

...and that's OK!

In our catalog you will find descriptions like 24x50 8LB 16 single open end 86/14 blend, or 24x50 15LB 20 double ground 16 single pile ring spun, 100% cotton. Both of these describe a bath towel, which can be a little intimidating if you go it alone. So, whether you're looking for a no-thrills institutional towel for prison laundries, or a plush towel to pamper spa guests, we'll help you understand 'towel speak'.

Size

Pay close attention to the size in relation to weight. A 24x48 8lb towel will have a plushier feel than a 24x50 8lb towel. The smaller towel will make the weight up in additional pile.

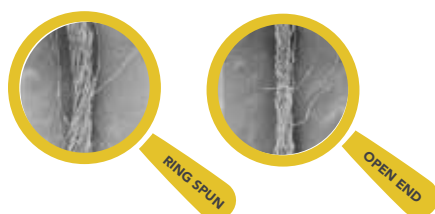

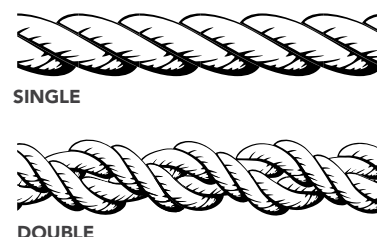

Weight

Commonly misinterpreted, the weight in pounds refers to the weight per dozen towels, not weight per towel. A dozen is the standard UOM for selling towels. However, pay close attention to the case pack which lets you know the minimum dozen you must purchase in a carton or bale.

Yarn Construction

The numbers you see associated with cotton production refer to number of threads that make up the yarn. Thread strength is determined by the staple length of cotton. The lower the number, the thicker, harder, and less durable the yarn. Higher quality yarn is made from long-staple fibers which are spun into finer, stronger threads. So, 20 single yarn is half the diameter of 10 single yarn and twice as long. Yarn fibers are doubled for additional strength. 20 double yarn is made with two strands of yarn twisted together to forge a greater tensile strength (much like a suspension bridge cable).

Yarn Construction

The majority of commercial towels are made with ring spun or open end yarn.

- Ring Spun Yarn - Spun on spindles which gives the yarn its high tensile strength. Yarn is twisted uniformly to the core which gives the pile an even, optically whiter, softer feel. It is more expensive due to the additional processing steps.
- Open End Yarn - Common in institutional towels, open end yarn has a harsher hand feel, lower strength and uneven twist; but is economical, and therefore mass-produced.

Towel Material

Our towels are typically made from one of two constructions.

- 100% Cotton - Softer, more absorbent, but less durable, 100% cotton towels have a higher perceived value over blended towels. 100% cotton is the first choice for all color towels as polyester does not take and retain dye evenly.
- Cotton/Poly Blend - The towel will be built with a polyester ground and cotton pile. There will be no significant loss of softness, and the towel will stand up to around 30 more washes than 100% cotton towels. Another benefit is that blended towels dry quicker.

Shipping Options

- Carton Packed - Smaller quantities of towels packed in cardboard boxes. Some towels may be used directly out of the carton which saves time and money by eliminating a wash cycle.
- Bale Packed - Larger quantities of towels compressed into bales by machines are more economical to handle and ship; however, they will need to be washed prior to use.

INSTITUTIONAL WHITE SHEETS

BUY A BETTER SHEET SET.

Using 100% American cotton, our mills produce ring spun yarn on advanced German spinning machines which yield a stronger, softer fabric. Yarn is tested for strength and softness in an on-premise lab to ensure quality. Our sheets are woven on advanced airjet looms; we never buy our fabric or use recycled cotton. Our mill is vertically integrated which means we can inspect everything from yarn creation, through weaving, dying, finishing, and packaging.

LULWORTH 180 SHEET COLLECTION

These 180 thread count sheets are constructed with a 55/45 cotton/poly blend. The sheets are more durable than cotton sheets but still retain a soft hand feel. Made in China, our institutional sheets are softer than other imports at a more competitive price point.

HOTEL MAKEUP TOWEL

Makeup towels are quickly become popular with mainstream hotels because they extend the life of the hotels' white towels. Guests will typically remove their makeup using any readily available terry cloth. Oily residue then saturates the white terry towels, and that residue transfers to other white towels in the wash. If you use a black makeup removal towel however, laundry operators will wash the black towels separately from the white which means that your white towels are less likely to become dull over time due to makeup. Any optical blemishes will be hidden by the black towel, and the towels give hotel bathrooms an upscale appearance

ROUTE READY BAR MOPS

Why waste time washing and counting bar mops? Route Ready bar mops are optically white and packed by the bale. 48 bags of 25 barmops means you never have to pre-wash or recount them prior to use. Typically, laundries save at least 70¢ per dozen by freeing wash-room and finishing floor operators from a wash cycle. You gain more production time to focus on other laundry room bottlenecks.

We built our business on opportunity. Observing the market, we started out buying mill rejects to sell as irregulars for our budget conscious distributors. Knowledge gained from our humble beginnings provides unrivaled textile industry acumen. As you read this, our global sourcing department is working with the many mills we partner with to buy their firsts, imperfects and irregulars. But what, you may ask, is an 'imperfect'? What makes a product 'irregular'? How do you purchase opportunistically?

Imperfects contain some small flaws that may not even be visible or obvious. Too many fly-yarns, a missing warp or weft tread, bowing construction, over-stitching, tiny perforations or color dyes that do not match the samples sold to the retailer, all make up imperfects.

Irregular towels do not pass the 'eye' test. They may pass physical inspection, but were soiled with dirt. Towel yarn may not be optically white; therefore they sit in the mill until we rescue them for you.

When national retailers drop colors or cancel shipments, we buy deeply discounted containers and ship the savings to you. Due to the very nature of opportunity buying, opportunity buys rarely make the catalog. Talk to your rep and visit our website to learn about current opportunities.

From The Blog:

“We have been in the import business for over 70 years. In that time we are often asked about sourcing. We’ve lost and regained customers who have tried to source directly. Many times, customers fall into the price trap. Historically we’ve found that smaller mills have better prices and greater flexibility for minimum order quantities.

The question for us was why?”

SMARTCHOICETM MICROFIBER

We pride ourselves on commercial quality microfiber products at consumer friendly price points. Whether it's light home application or for national healthcare laundry, we have hundreds of sku's and private label programs in place. Put a program of mops and cloths to work for you. We have included a microfiber care guide in the back of this catalog for your convenience.

THE DIFFERENCE:

- We offer color-coding solutions from cloth weights ranging from 195 to 300 gsm
- Our mops range from lightweight foam-filled to heavy multi-ply microfiber filled products
- We carry various surface styles for task-specific cleaning and polishing purposes
- We have private label programs and special colors per customer request

WORK SMARTER NOT HARDER

...microfiber is the SmartChoice

While “old-fashioned” cotton cleaning tools simply push dirt, bacteria, and chemicals around, microfiber is one-sixth the width of a human hair, holds eight times its weight in water, and has been designed with tiny channels to capture dirt, bacteria and chemicals.

REDUCE MOP COSTS BY 60%

Microfiber mops can be laundered up to 500 times, over five times the lifespan of regular mops. For example, in one year, a hospital could see a 60% reduction in mop costs. Plus, more mops fit in one load of laundry, lowering water, detergent, and energy usage.

SAVE UP TO 95% PER DAY IN PRODUCT COSTS

Because of microfiber’s increased efficiency and efficacy, you can experience water and chemical savings up to 95% per day, according to the EPA’s statistics.

PUT PHYSICS TO WORK

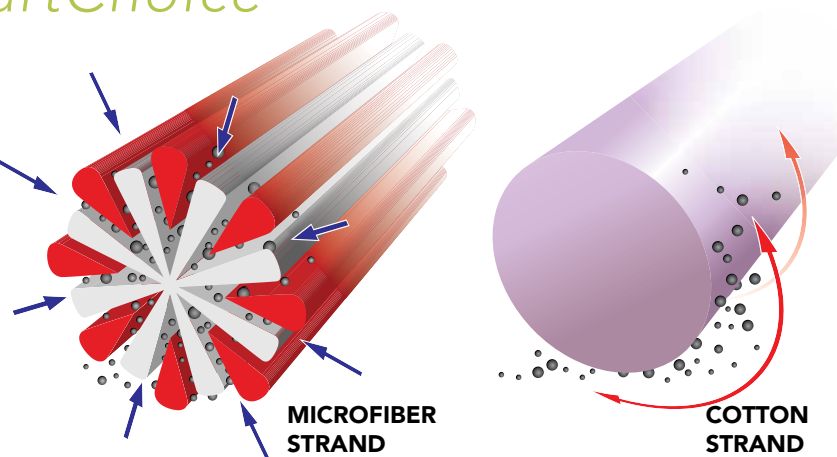

Microfiber strands are split or “cracked” 10 times which creates a positive electric charge. The dirt and dust particles have a negative charge, which means dirt is literally attracted to the microfiber.

CLEAN HEALTHIER!

When bacteria culture is taken after cleaning with a microfiber mop, there can be up to a 99% reduction from pre-cleaning vs. just a 33% reduction when using regular cotton mops.

LOWER LABOR COSTS BY 20% PER DAY

Using microfiber reduces fatigue while increasing square footage coverage and allows fewer trips to change water/ solution. For example, in one year a hospital could see a 20% average custodial labor savings. When combined with the mop cost savings it can be more than $7,000 per year, per custodian!

GO GREEN(ER)

Using microfiber is the responsible thing to do for your business, employees, and the Earth. Because less chemicals need to be used in the average cleaning, there is less contaminated water entering the water stream. According to the EPA, this can result in up to a 95% reduction in cleaning chemicals in our water supply.

Also, because a soiled microfiber mop is never returned to the cleaning solution, it’s a healthier and safer solution — there is never cross-contamination or unnecessary contact with cleaning chemicals.

ABWTM WIPERS

We started in the wiper business, and were one of the first companies to implement a private label wiper program. We re-purpose millions of pounds of used textile products annually. These items are generated from used clothing or discarded institutional textile use. All products are cut and inspected by hand.

WE'VE BEEN WIPING FOR 70 YEARS

...and have never stopped innovating.

ENVIRONMENTALLY RESPONSIBLE BUY-BACK PROGRAM

Every year the hospitality and healthcare industries generate millions of tons of textile waste. When terry towels and linens no longer meet quality standards, they must be disposed of, or recycled by the generators. Until now there has been no industry standard to recycle these materials.

If this is you, then we are here to help. We will collect your discarded linen, and give you credit towards your next purchase. It's a win-win. You benefit from being environmentally responsible while earning credit towards new microfiber products. Here's how it works.

01. Collect

Save linen discards as they are generated in a heavy-duty tote provided by Monarch Brands

02. Ship

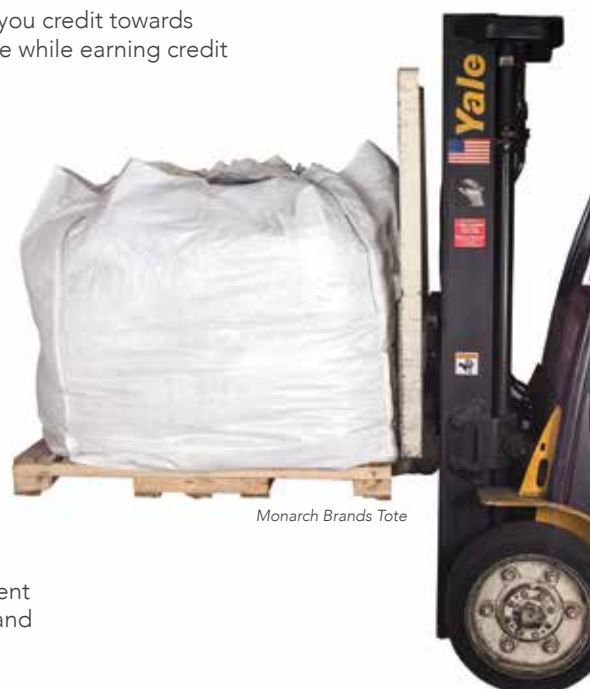

Call Monarch for a pick-up at your location

03. Weigh

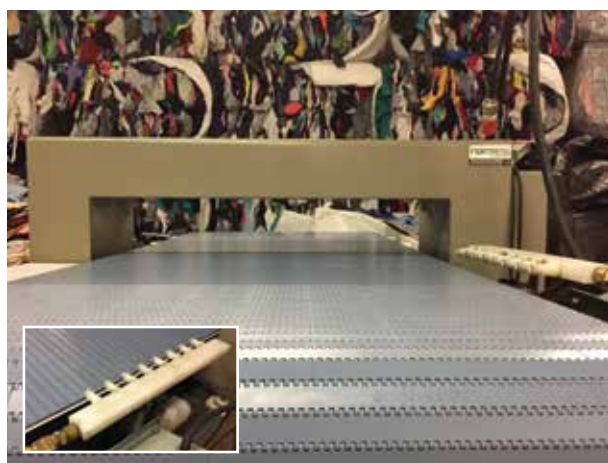

We will sort your shipment to evaluate the quality and weight of the discards

04. Save

We'll issue you a credit towards your next purchase.

Monarch Brands Tote

SOCIALLY RESPONSIBLE RAG PRODUCTION

When used linens are brought to Monarch Brands they may contain substances that may be harmful to humans as well as the surfaces they are cleaning. This is especially true when buying from hospitals and hotels. Syringes, cutlery, pins, broken surgical equipment and even nuts and bolts have been found in rag bales over the years.

Monarch Brands is invested in the health and safety of everyone who comes in contact with our rags. Recycled rags that leave our facility are put through our metal detector piece by piece by piece. The detector is extremely sensitive and blows rags with trace amounts of foreign objects into a discard bin.

PROFESSIONAL WIPERS

We offer products in 1LB poly bags, 5, 10 and 50LB compressed bags and 5, 10, 25 and 50LB cartons. All of these options can be private labeled. In addition, we have private PDQ capabilities for point of purchase sales. Each rag is listed by item code. Use the chart below to find the suffix to indicate which weight of product you are purchasing.

STOP LINEN LOSS

According to The Economist, between 5% and 20% of linens are stolen annually. Shrinkage is real, especially in hospitals and hotels where guests feel they have paid enough to justify taking a set of towels when they leave.

The truth is simply this: "A logo, whether it's from the hospital or the company providing the linen, can be a deterrent for textiles to "leave" a healthcare facility."

CLEANING MICROFIBER

To preserve the life of your microfiber, wash and dry after use. Otherwise you run the risk of contaminants setting in the cloth. This will hamper future cleaning efforts by clogging the fine cleaning channels and increases the risk of cross contamination.

- Wash the most soiled microfiber in separate loads. This is most easily done when using a color coordinated system as some tasks are dirtier than others.
- Wash microfiber only with other microfiber as cotton releases lint that is trapped within the microfibers.
- Program commercial laundry washing machines with the following cycle for optimum results. Use more solvent for heavily soiled cloths, never use alkaline, bleach, or fabric softener.

Operation	Time	Temp.	Water lvl
Flush	2 Mins	120°F	High
Flush	2 Mins	140°F	High
Wash/Solvent	25 Mins	160°F	Low
Rinse/Extract	3 Mins	140°F	High
Rinse/Extract	2 Mins	80°F	High
Rinse	2 Mins	80°F	High
Extract	6 Mins

DRYING MICROFIBER

Microfibers are more susceptible to damage due to heat. Their polyamide material could deform when in contact with hot dryer drums. If you insist on machine-drying, set the temperature to a maximum of 140°F and remove immediately following the dry cycle. Preferred option: Air dry.

When drying mops commercial laundries have two options.

- Do not dry, add disinfectant during the 80°F rinse cycle then seal mops in a poly bag for transportation.
- Pre-load wet-mops with chemical product by placing them in a container with cleaning chemicals. In 30 minutes you will have a saturated wet mop that's ready to quickly deploy in a soiled area.

CLEANING TOWELS

All sizes of toweling can be washed in the same wash cycle (bath towels, hand towels etc.). However white towels should always be washed separately from colored towels, and kitchen/restaurant towels should be laundered separately than guest towels.

Identify stains prior to laundering. Hotel bed and bath linen may contain blood, feces, vomit or urine and should always be treated as potentially infectious linen. This linen should always be kept separate and washed using a heavier cycle.

Fatty acids and grease contained in body soils are best neutralized by alkaline PH substances. However, in order for the towel to be made ready for use, you must rinse and rebalance the alkali with acid (such as bleach).

Operation	Time	Temp.	Water lvl
Flush	2 Mins	100°F	High
Wash/Alkali (Break)	15 Mins	170°F	Low
Wash/Detergent	15 Mins	170°F	Low
Rinse/Bleach	3 Mins	150°F	Med-low
Rinse	2 Mins	140°F	Med-low
Rinse	2 Mins	120°F	Med-low
Rinse/Softener	2 Mins	100°F	Low

DRYING TOWELS

Separate beach and bath towels, hand towels and washcloths, tea towels and bar mops. They will dry at different rates due to their weights and construction. Dry until the moisture level of the finished towel is between 4-6%. Over-drying in a tumble dryer is the leading cause of greying. This is due to bone-dry terry loops inability to discharge static. As a result, the towel surface attracts every particle from the drying air-stream leading to progressive greying.
