

Georgia-Pacific Professional Expands Green by Design™ Platform with EcoLogo™ Certified Products

In 2009, Georgia-Pacific Professional announced EcoLogo™ certification of a broad selection of the company's towel, tissue and napkin products. This designation by an independent organization is another building block in Georgia-Pacific Professional's Green By Design™ program.

The facilities that manufacture Georgia-Pacific Professional's certified products underwent a rigorous independent audit as part of the participation in the program. Elements of the audit included natural resource consumption, energy consumption, effluent quality, and solid waste from the facility.

"EcoLogo™ certification is a recognition of our long-time commitment to environmental stewardship," said Bill Sleeper, president – Georgia-Pacific Professional. "From being a pioneer in recycling to making products that help reduce waste, Georgia-Pacific Professional is dedicated to being a sustainable partner with our customers."

Scot Case, executive director of EcoLogo™ certification, said, "I am pleased to welcome Georgia-Pacific Professional to the EcoLogo™ program. I was impressed that the company's commitment to environmentally-sound manufacturing processes and accurate recordkeeping facilitated such a timely audit and certification."

Dan Silk, vice president – sustainability for Georgia-Pacific Professional, said, "EcoLogo™ is one of the most respected environmental standards in the industry, representing a holistic approach to measurement of environmental impact in the processes for paper manufacturing. It is an excellent fit with our dedication to processes and products that are technologically and environmentally sound."
